Where did the time go?

Summer break is finally upon us and my term as president has come to a close. Where did the time go? This is the last time you get to hear me ramble on and get on my soapbox. Okay... maybe there will be a little rambling in an article or two in the future.

When I was asked to fill the position, I viewed it as an exciting challenge and an honor. Andy told me it would be a great opportunity to have a giant mirror for a while. (There is no truth to the rumor that I drew the short straw at a meeting at Marian Alstad's basement during the summer of '06.)

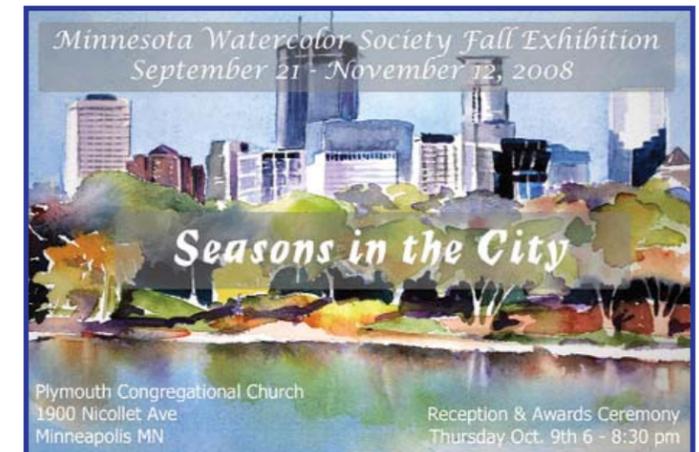

We accomplished a lot in the last two years:

- We celebrated our 25th birthday. Hoo-ha...watermedia, keeps us hooked year after year. Our organization reached this mile stone because past board members built foundations and addressed issues that made us who we are today. Thank You. This current board has been a joy to work with. They are always unselfish and upbeat; they are quick to volunteer and go the extra mile; they are the worker bees; and they made me look good. Thank you, I needed all the help I could get.
- We had our first "Easel Night" which was a great success. Who doesn't like show and tell?
- We created a signature status which will continue to offer a challenge to our growing membership.

We have a lot to offer as an organization. There are exciting demos and great workshops and we also have an amazing library. Come to the meetings and take part. It is amazing how much you can learn just by comparing notes with fellow members. Like all organizations, the more you put in, the more you will get in return. Being actively involved in an organization is kind of like giving blood—10 percent of the people donate for the other 90 percent. (I have my five gallon pin.) There will always be opportunities to volunteer, whether for shows or events or the board. We are always looking for fresh blood, oops, I mean volunteers. It helps the organization as a whole and provides opportunities for lasting friendships.

Finally, I would like to thank Chris May, who has done a fabulous job with the newsletter the last couple of years. She is also passing the baton. I guess it is the old graphic designer in me, who wants to acknowledge the difficult grind of the constant deadlines and the need to sometimes create something out of nothing. (And receiving letters from the president at the eleventh hour doesn't help!) Thanks Chris!

Keep up your artistic momentum over the break. Get the brush going and make a few masterpieces. Thanks to everyone who does their part in making MNWS a great organization!

Call for Artists—MnWS 2008 Fall Open Exhibition - by Catherine Hearing

I am going to present you with a challenge for our Fall Show this year. The Fall 2008 Members' Show will be held at Plymouth Congregational Church in Minneapolis, September 21- Nov 12, 2008. This is a beautiful gallery, but a bit smaller than some of our Fall Show venues have been. I am going to challenge you to paint small! The theme for this show is "Seasons in the City." This can include buildings, people, parks, rivers, lakes, farmer's markets, anything having to do with the city. It can even include non-representational work inspired by the city. And for our out-state members, it can include Rochester, Duluth, Mankato, Stillwater...any city. I would love for these paintings to be done plein-air, but that is not a requirement. I know that many of us are somewhat intimidated by painting outside (that includes me!) However, this would be a great time to try it out and push ourselves a bit. This show will fall outside of our comfort zone for many of us, but that is how we grow and expand our abilities. Our audience for this show is very definitely urban and I think that they would enjoy seeing what we can do with the city.

Think about composition, strong values, shapes and color, when planning your piece. A small format requires that we simplify and include only the most important elements. Detail becomes less important. The size of the piece may not exceed 24" in width or height including the frame (outside dimensions). I encourage you to take up this challenge and create a piece for the show this summer.

Editor's Note:

I would like to thank Dan Weimer for donating his time, energy, and enthusiasm as President (and all other presidents who have gone before him.) I'd also like to thank Jeanne Long who faithfully proofed each issue before it went to print. Jeanne has also agreed to do this for our new Editor, Theresa Weseman.

I am excited about what you will turn out. There are so many beautiful venues to paint in the Cities. It should be a very exciting show. Space will be limited to 65 paintings, so you will need to get your registrations in early. The postmark deadline for entry forms is September 3, 2008, so make sure that you get that on your calendar.

So, take some time this summer to explore the city and find a special place that you would like to paint. I am looking forward to some fabulous paintings! If you have any questions regarding this show, please feel free to contact me at cathy@chearding.com or (651)777-8158.

DoubleShot Studio Announces the Launch of ArtPerk.com—

Finding Display and Gallery Opportunities Just Got a Whole Lot Easier—

The owners of DoubleShot Studio today announced the launch of ArtPerk - www.ArtPerk.com - a new website for artists seeking to locate display opportunities and gallery openings. ArtPerk lists opportunities throughout the nation and offers unique features to help artists find show opportunities in a quick, user-friendly way.

Artists seeking shows to enter now have the ability to search for opportunities by media (nice for sculptors and photographers, sometimes not allowed in juried shows), by location (if you're partial to show your work only near your home), and other search parameters.

ArtPerk also allows users to save their searches and receive daily or weekly e-mails with those search results as reminders. The site is free for artists to search and for galleries and venues to post. Galleries can create listings for a fee if they'd like front page placement and other advantages.

"We wanted to create a place where artists of any media can come, and quickly find shows and display opportunities open to their work," said Missy Loewe, co-creator of the site. "It also had to have the ability for people to save these searches and receive e-mail reminders. ArtPerk will revolutionize the way artists search for opportunities, so they won't spend five minutes reading about a show, then find in the last line of the description that their media type is not allowed."

The owners of the site will add new features weekly, including new types of opportunities such as jobs and residencies for artists, and articles on business and marketing.

Based in the Washington, DC metropolitan area, ArtPerk is owned by the photographers and web design specialists at DoubleShot Studio, LLC of Gaithersburg, MD and is located on the Internet at www.ArtPerk.com.

Minnetonka Center for the Arts Summer Happenings

Exhibit—THOMAS PAQUETTE GOUACHES AND OILS
June 26 - August 7, 2008; Laura H. Miles Gallery
Open to the public. Opening Reception—Thurs., 6/26, 6 - 9 pm

Thomas Paquette is known for his large landscape oil paintings, meticulously layered and reworked to render complex effects of light, scale and context. He began experimenting with small gouache studies in the field, intending to use them as reference notes for his larger works. He soon found that these often tiny compositions had become important statements on their own. The opaque water-based gouache technique allows the artist to layer, scrape and rework these paintings to the same level of obsessive attention as with his larger works in oil. Paquette's gouache paintings are intimate revelations of technique, composition and observation. For more information about the artist go to: www.thomaspaquette.com
